This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1888 Excerpt: ...up for me. Fish her up before she drowns Thou shalt have four hundred crowns. Fish her for me dead and cold Thou shalt have my all in gold." The following famous song of the Rhone I have given in its entirety, as it is well deserving of the space it takes up. It is " Le Revestidon, ou Les Equipages du Rhone "--" The Revestidon, or the Boats' Crews of the Rhone/' The Revestidon means one of the pontoons for embarking and debarking from the steamboats which ply between Lyons and Avignon. I am again indebted to Monsieur Borel for his translation of the Provencal version; indeed, what M Monsieur Sebillot has done for me in Brittany and the North of France generally, Monsieur Borel has done in Provence and the South. Had all my applications for information respecting the sailors' and fishermen's songs of a country met with one half the courtesy and extremely kind help that have been shown them in France, I should have found my task a much less formidable undertaking; it is, perhaps, by contrasting the unresponsive and many times indifferent treatment of other nations that the kindness and cordiality of the land of the arrowy Rhone, and corncoloured Loire, stands out in such shining characters.
