Gordon's Dawn Hazel Gower

Gordon Wilks thought he had it all—women, power, and money—until a car accident had him questioning what he really wanted in life.

Moving to Australia where no one knows him, Gordon has a plan to find what he really wants, which is everything he never had and thought he didn't need—until now—a woman to love him and to become his wife. His new neighbor in Australia, with her gothic looks, horrible taste in music, and amazing cooking gets in his way.

Dawn has a new neighbor, who at first is almost as bad as her last—calling the police on her for her loud music a couple of nights a week. One night, things change when she opens her door—not to the police, but to her new handsome neighbor.

Gordon gave himself a year to find a potential wife, and that year is close to an end. He finally gives in to the attraction he feels for Dawn despite their differences. Once he faces his true feelings, he realizes she's the only one for him, and he has fallen in love with her.

Only, his time is now up and he needs to go back to his old life. The problem is Dawn has no idea he is Gordon Wilks, CEO of Wilks and Co Financial, and the only son of a Dallas dynasty family. She thinks he is a lowly bartender.

Will Dawn stay with him when she learns the truth?
