The Case of Dr. Harold Shipman Steven G Carley

“The Case of Dr. Harold Shipman” discusses the life of and motives behind Shipman’s unethical and despicable behavior. Many of Shipman’s profession, take part in the act of murder as a means of resurrecting the socially responsible environment. Shipman in contrast seemingly takes pleasure in his acts of killing making him a sexual sadist. The medical community may like to write off his behaviors as just a madman present within the doctoral profession. As history may show, it may be quite converse to this argument, in it is the doctoral position and medical profession catering to such villainous behavior. The medical community likes to state there will not be another like Shipman. As possibly the serial killer with the most victims globally this may be true, yet in regard to the existence of physicians taking part in the act of serial killing this is far from true. Documented with the story of Dr. Harold Shipman is a compilation of doctors committing the acts of a serial killer most often for financial benefits. As history shows the medical profession to have more serial killers than any other, and perhaps more than all other professions combined.
