Blind Leading the Blind Susan Landis-Steward

Defrocked detective Erik Walton has lost everything: her job, her lover, even her father. When her 14-year-old cousin, Ashley, disappears along with a friend, her family insists that she "help" the police. She reluctantly agrees. Searching for clues, Erik contacts Ashley's therapist, Dr. Liz Gearhart. Liz is wonder woman in Erik's eyes, especially since Liz is blind. Together they probe Ashley's past and family dynamics, and with Liz's dog, Casper, they comb the wilds of Oregon looking for clues. Erik finds herself flustered by Liz and confused by her own feelings. In the process of exploring her feelings, and her past, Erik comes to terms with her insecurities.

As a scholar exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library or to make summary for some book, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's soul or real their interest. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring along with can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Blind Leading the Blind can make you feel more interested to read.
