Research demonstrates that children of poverty need more than just academic instruction to succeed. Discover a blueprint for turning low-performing schools into Cultures of Hope! The authors draw from their own experiences working with high-poverty, high-achieving schools to illustrate how to support students with an approach that considers social as well as emotional factors in education.

Benefits

- Understand the relevance of Maslow's hierarchy of needs to K-12 education.
- Discover tested strategies behind the success of high-poverty, high-achieving schools.
- Access surveys that gauge the temperature of your school's culture.
- Integrate the world of jobs and professional careers into academic curriculum.
- Support students with tools to envision and plan for the future.
- Define processes for building consensus and increasing collaboration.
